

North Hampton Heritage Commission
Minutes – July 13, 2000

The meeting was opened by Jenifer Landman, Chair, at 10 am. Also present were: Priscilla Leavitt, Barbara Hobby, Anna Pike, Robert Southworth, Jane Rockwell (LBH Heritage Commission) and Pamela Schwotzer.

Jenifer passed out the agenda, and discussion proceeded as follows:

Minutes of the last meeting were accepted as presented.

The Atlantic News interviewed Jenifer re the walking tours, and will run an article. The reporter walked the tour and clocked it: 30 minutes, 1.2 miles.

Community News article: Jenifer will do.

Bob Southworth questioned the safety of a Little River walk: there are no sidewalks or safe parking areas. It was decided that people could park at the Little River church and walk to sites in that vicinity (church, cemetery, school, house on the corner), and the rest of the tour will be driven.

Bob Southworth had photos for LBH Heritage Commission and a write-up. Jane accepted these and said the LBH walk is almost complete. They are waiting for permissions from a few home owners.

Little River walk is scheduled to go to the printer for July 31. We don't have confirmation from Susannah Clarke about doing it at no charge: we (Jenifer?) will contact her. Jane Palmer's Little River information was discussed, and what to include on this walk, based on her list. It was narrowed down to: Lamprey homestead, various points of interest, Little River upper mill dam, and some homes, 8 sites in all. Jenifer will send a registered letter to secure homeowner's permissions. We also need photos for Little River. Bob Southworth will do this.

Wayne Elliot has not answered phone calls re appointment to Commission. No further action at this time.

A discussion of the total scope of the project followed. It appears that we have 14 sites in the Town Hall walk, 8 for Little River, 23 possible at North Hill (not all with photos), and 30 at Little Boar's Head, a total of 75. Some editing will be necessary.

Citizen's Bank is considering a $2000 contribution to the printing costs. The Rotary Club in Hampton may also be a sponsor.

Discussion of procedure: do we pass the information to Lisa in loose form for final review, or scan photos and text together first? Jenifer will check to see which she prefers.

At the next meeting we will discuss North Hill.

The meeting was adjourned at 11:45am. Next meeting is Thursday, July 27, at 10am.

Respectfully submitted,
Pamela Schwotzer
